TYPE THREE

THE ACHIEVER

If it wasn't for you, our world would be without success-driven competition. Your ambition for the best in everything leads us to find the potential, excellence and beauty all around us. You seek love through performance and achievement.

Though you are productive and pragmatic, you struggle with showing your authentic self. Remind yourself that you don't have to change who you are to earn love and respect.

Getting in touch with your authentic self will strengthen your relationships. Notice when you are trying to be the person you think they want you to be rather than being the true you.
